

UNITY, stone, corten steel, 8' to 16' high

"...overcoming difference to find harmony."

Mark Leichliter

Loveland, Colorado

The design of this piece relates to the concept of overcoming differences to find harmony. Two separate and distinct forms rise up and embrace a circle, which also acts to unify them by its presence. The circle is considered the perfect shape, conveying harmony and wholeness. Thus this sculpture can act as a signpost, reminding the viewer that through cooperation and unity any goal is attainable.

Professional Vita

Professional artist
Production manager, welder and enlargement assistant for American sculptor Dan Ostermiller
Production manager for Swedish sculptor Kent Ullberg

Selected Public Installations

TSUNAMI, Cerritos Civic Center, Cerritos, California, 2001
INNER DANCE, Auto Nation, Cerritos, California
Sculpture in the Park, Loveland, Colorado
Fire and Police Memorial, LaQuinta, California

Selected Collections

Little Rock Airport, Little Rock, Arkansas
City of Paramount, California
American Stores Properties, Inc., Salt Lake City, Utah

Education

Apprenticeship with Kent Ullberg, 1990-1994

SCULPTURE PROPOSED FOR:

